BEACHY FUN IN PUNTA CANA, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

For beach lovers, the island nation of the Dominican Republic enjoys a reputation as one of the most beautiful and interesting destinations in the Caribbean. As one of the region's most geographically diverse countries, the Dominican Republic boasts the Caribbean's highest mountain peak, Pico Duarte, as well as the largest lake and lowest elevation, Lake Enriquillo.

On the east coast lies Punta Cana – boasting one of the Caribbean region's longest white sand coastlines. This is the place to be if you're looking for a reasonably priced all-inclusive resort set on some of the most picturesque beaches in the world. This region is often referred to as the Coconut Coast due to its hundreds of swaying coconut palms scattered along 30 miles of fine white sand. Most Punta Cana resorts are low-rise; the grounds are lush and tropical with foliage, lagoons and palm trees along with peacocks, flamingos, ducks, parrots and other wildlife that stroll the resorts' grounds.

The colorful waters of Punta Cana's beaches are ideal for surfing, jet skiing, scuba diving, boating and fishing. Onshore, just as many activities can be enjoyed, including horseback riding, jeep safaris, helicopter tours, zip-lining, and hiking to Hoyo Azul. This is also a golfer's destination, with 110 courses scattered along the strip.

For some more unusual activities, consider these excursions:

Hoyo Azul – This lagoon, also known as the "Blue Hole," is a cenote, a natural swimming hole. The cenote sits within Scape Park, a natural theme park located within the resort area of Cap Cana.

Marinarium – In this unique water park you can experience some of the best snorkeling in the area, complete with nurse sharks and stingrays. Enjoy a Coco Loco as you cruise along the coast to your final stop, a waist-deep natural pool in the sea.

Dolphin Island – Enjoy friendly and safe interaction with dolphins, sea lions, sharks and stingray. Unique activities bring you up close to these aquatic animals.

Manati Park – This park offers fun for the whole family with animal shows and Taino dance performance shows.

Seaquarium Aqua Park – Scuba diving with a twist; Seaquarium is a unique tour that pairs you with a diving helmet and allows you to walk the bottom of the clear waters with an unforgettable view of reef and coral life – no certification required.

Punta Cana is a wonderful destination for families, but it is also perfect for couples looking for an ideal wedding location or those just looking for an ultra-romantic stay with secluded beachside lodging.

THE OBERAMMERGAU PASSION PLAY

Experience this Magnificent Performance in 2022

Once every 10 years, in Germany's small Bavarian village of Oberammergau, a theatrical religious production is performed, known as the Passion Play. This inspiring play, which draws visitors from around the world, is based on the Bible's account of the final days of Jesus Christ.

The story of the play began in 1633, at which time the Oberammergau villagers promised to perform the suffering, death and resurrection of Christ every 10th year, in so far as no one was to die of the ravaging bubonic plague anymore. The villagers were answered by God, and therefore in 1634 the first Passion Play took place. This promise has been kept until today, with performances being held from mid-May to early October.

The five-hour production involves more than 2,000 performers, musicians and stage technicians, all residents of the village, who bring the story of Jesus of Nazareth to the impressive open-air stage of the Passion Play Theatre. Almost half of Oberammergau's population will devotedly act out the story of the man whose tidings for more than 2000 years have brought hope and power of life to an incredible number of people.

In 2022, the 42nd Passion Play will be performed, and already tickets for the event are in high demand. Spoken dramatic text, music and songs are performed in German, with a printed translation of the script available in English. In addition, visitors can enjoy backstage tours of the Passion Play Theater throughout the year.

In conjunction with the play, many tour companies offer guided tours in nearby regions such as beautiful Austria, Bavaria and Switzerland.

Bavaria is a particularly lovely area of Germany, with abundant forests and mountain peaks, small medieval towns and vibrant cities such as Munich, the regional capital. A highlight of Bavaria is Neuschwanstein Castle, an elaborate palace that was intended to be the home of Ludwig II of Bavaria, though he reportedly only spent 11 nights there. Today, the castle draws thousands of visitors each year. In Switzerland's majestic Alps, one of the highlights is a scenic train journey aboard the Glacier Express, which winds sinuously through tunnels and across bridges, affording lovely panoramic views of snowcapped mountains, rivers, alpine pastures and charming villages.

AN INCREDIBLE TRIP TO THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

By Terence McDermott
AAA Northampton County Travel Agent

I had the wonderful opportunity of traveling to Hawaii with AAA travel partner Pleasant Holidays. It was an amazing experience. The natural beauty is awe-inspiring. Here are some of the highlights of my experiences on the islands of Oahu and Maui.

Day 1 – My first night in Honolulu was spent at the Hilton Hawaiian Village in Waikiki. This beachside resort has amazing pools, a private lagoon, and beautiful rooms with views of the beach and Diamond Head crater. After a relaxing day on the beach and by the pool, we enjoyed a Hawaiian luau.

Day 2 – Today’s adventure took us to Kualoa Ranch, which sits on 4,000 private acres and is considered to be Hollywood’s backlot. Here you can take a movie set tour in an open-air bus or opt for a private VIP movie set tour. There’s also horseback riding, e-bike tours, zip-lining, and a jungle expedition tour.

Day 3 – Today we visited the Pearl Harbor memorial, which features a short historical film, before boarding a vessel to the memorial. Later, on a Honolulu city tour, we saw the Iolani Palace, the United States’ only formal royal residence, and the national cemetery of the Pacific.

Day 4 – Venturing to the North Shore to see Oahu’s countryside, we stopped in Haleiwa, a popular surf town where there are quaint shops, food trucks and farms. Another highlight of the day was stopping at the Polynesian Cultural Center for an introduction to Polynesian history.

Day 5 – This morning we flew to Maui for a stay in the Ka’anapali area. This is an ideal resort location, with shopping and dining. Catamaran cruises leave from the area, and the beach is gorgeous, especially at sunset.

Day 6 – Today we spent time in Lahaina, an old whaling village. If you stroll down Front Street you will find boutiques, handmade craft shops, art galleries, and restaurants.

Day 7 – At the Ko’ie’ie Fishpond we learned about ancient Hawaiian fishing techniques and the history of the Hawaiian people. We also were able to take out an outrigger canoe and paddle to the ocean. Later, at the Maui Ocean Center, we learned about the marine ecosystem and migratory humpback whales. In the evening, we walked to Black Rock, where you can see cliff jumping and a torch lighting ceremony.

Day 8 – On our last day in Maui we went to Wailea, an upscale resort area, and visited the town of Kahului, a cruise port. Nearby is Maui Tropical Plantation, a working pineapple field featuring a farm-to-table restaurant and activities such as zip-lining. We ended the evening at the beautiful Hyatt Regency Maui where we enjoyed the Drums of the Pacific luau. This was a perfect way to end this Hawaiian dream.

If you are interested in going to Hawai’i and would like help planning your getaway, please call me at 610-258-2371.

LUXURY TRAIN ADVENTURE IN AMERICA'S SOUTHWEST

America's Southwest is a stark, beautiful landscape, painted in hues of dusty red and orange. Rugged rock formations serve as a backdrop to grand and glorious displays of Mother Nature – natural archways, sinuous rivers, and towering sandstone hoodoos.

In 2021, you can experience this magnificent scenery on a new "Rockies to the Red Rocks" rail itinerary aboard a Rocky Mountaineer luxury train. Travel between Denver, Colorado, and Moab, Utah, with an overnight stay in Glenwood Springs, Colorado. Along the way, pass through Moffat Tunnel and emerge on the western side of the Continental Divide, cutting through 6.3 miles of mountainous terrain. Travel along the Colorado River and picturesque canyons, habitat for deer, marmots, big horn sheep, bears and mountain lions.

Frequently a filming backdrop for movies, including "Stagecoach" and "Forrest Gump," Utah's Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park is another highlight of this rail itinerary. The park is known for its towering sandstone buttes, and is accessed by the magnificently scenic 17-mile Valley Drive. The famous Mittens Buttes can be viewed from the road or from overlooks such as John Ford's Point.

At Arches National Park, which lies north of Moab, visitors find one of the greatest concentrations of natural arches in the world – some 2,000 span the park's otherworldly terrain.

Experience this scenic beauty aboard a luxury train and you have all the makings of an unforgettable journey. Rocky Mountaineer's deluxe glass-dome railcars traverse this region of Southwest America while indulging guests with exceptional service and amenities. En route to your destinations, enjoy gourmet meals served from a fully stocked kitchen, regional wines and beers, stories and historical tidbits provided by onboard hosts.

Rocky Mountaineer railcars feature large picture windows on the lower dining level, while the domed upper-level provides 360-degree views that wrap around the seemingly endless scenery. This viewing area is equipped with large, comfortable seats that allow you to stand while snapping photos of the picturesque scenery. These luxury trains only travel by day, stopping in the evenings for guests to disembark and spend the night in hotels along the way.

Rocky Mountaineer will offer 40 departures on the "Rockies to the Red Rocks" route from August to October 2021, and a full season schedule for 2022 and beyond. To learn more about this itinerary and Rocky Mountaineer's three Canadian rail routes, talk to your AAA Northampton Country travel agent.

HIGHER ROAD SPEED LIMITS INCREASE SAFETY RISK

Drivers want to save time, and local transportation agencies want to improve traffic flow, but at what cost? With posted speed limits increasing on roadways around the country, a vehicle's ability to protect drivers in crashes is in doubt.

Small speed increases can have huge effects on crash outcomes, as shown in new crash tests by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS) and Humanetics. The safety organizations conducted crashes at three different impact speeds (40, 50 and 56 mph). They found the slightly higher speeds were enough to increase the driver's risk of severe injury or death.

Drivers often travel faster than posted speed limits, but when officials raise limits to match travel speeds, people still go faster. Today, 41 states allow 70 mph or higher speeds on some roadways, including eight states that have maximum speeds of 80 mph or more. A 2019 IIHS study found that rising speed limits have cost nearly 37,000 lives over 25 years. AAA and IIHS urge policymakers to factor in this danger from higher speeds when considering speed limit changes.

The AAA Foundation collaborated with IIHS and Humanetics to examine how speed affects the likelihood and severity of occupant injury in a crash. Three 2010 Honda CR-V EX crossovers were used because they represented the average age (11.8 years) of a typical vehicle on U.S. roadways and earned the top rating in the IIHS moderate overlap front test.

As the crash speed increased in the tests, researchers found more structural damage and greater forces on the dummy's entire body.

"Higher speed limits cancel out the benefits of vehicle safety improvements like airbags and improved structural designs," said Dr. David Harkey, IIHS president. "The faster a driver is going before a crash, the less likely it is that they'll be able to get down to a survivable speed even if they have a chance to brake before impact."

At the 40mph impact speed, there was minimal intrusion into the driver's space. But at the 50mph impact speed, there was noticeable deformation of the driver side door opening, dashboard and foot area. At 56 mph, the vehicle interior was significantly compromised, with the dummy's sensors registering severe neck injuries and a likelihood of fractures to the long bones in the lower leg.

"Our crash test dummies are instrumented with hundreds of sensors to measure the injury risk so that we understand the scientific limits of safety and injury prevention. Understanding that the risk of serious and permanent injury becomes significantly higher in crashes beyond statutory speed limits clearly demonstrates why there are limits in the first place," commented Jack Jensen, vice president of engineering at Humanetics.

PUTTING A PROTECTION PLAN IN PLACE WITH LIFE INSURANCE

People like to plan for living, and most have financial goals that they prioritize throughout their lifetime. Three priorities often include reducing debt – such as bills, the mortgage and student loans – paying for medical expenses, leaving an inheritance and maintaining their family’s standard of living if they die.¹

Nearly one in five consumers say that these types of financial priorities are more important than getting life insurance.² But did you know life insurance can actually help solve many of these financial concerns?

You shouldn’t have to decide between life insurance and saving for graduation, tuition, weddings or retirement. With the right product, you can save for life events and help protect your family at the same time.

Consider these stages of life and how life insurance can fit into each one.

YOUNG SAVER

For someone who’s single without children, it may seem more important to pay off student loans and other debt than to take on a new financial obligation, especially if you’re trying to save up for something significant, like a down payment for a home or getting married. But if you’re planning on getting married, having kids or buying a home at some point in the future, now is actually a great time to think about life insurance as a way to help protect these plans.

The cost of life insurance is typically based on three things: your age, health and habits. That means it gets more expensive as time goes by. It’s more likely you will qualify for better rates now, while you are younger – making it a smart idea to lock in lower life insurance premiums today.

MID-LIFE PLANNER

If you have an established career, a home and a family, it may be time to start thinking about your children’s graduation parties, college expenses and even their wedding day. Life insurance could help to make sure there are funds available to your family for these important events if something were to happen to you. It can also help maintain their standard of living in the event they lose your income.

RETIREES

If you’re a mature adult, life insurance can help make sure your grandchildren have life insurance added to the financial protection they need in their own lives. It might also be time to start thinking seriously about an inheritance strategy for when you are no longer around – do you want funds to go directly to your children, your grandchildren, or perhaps a favorite charity? Life insurance can help make sure these proceeds go exactly where you’d like them to and provide you with added peace of mind.

Simply put, life insurance can help prepare you and your loved ones for a lifetime of financial priorities. Visit AAALife.com to get a free quote.
